Man arrested for trespassing and resisting arrest

PRINCEVILLE – A 24-year-old Anahola man was arrested in Princeville yesterday afternoon for trespassing and resisting arrest.

After posting bail of $170, Hale Mawae was released from police cellblock.

According to police, Mawae was among a group of people who had congregated outside radio station KKCR at around 4 pm yesterday reportedly in protest of the termination of two KKCR talk show hosts.

A manager from KKCR contacted police and asked for assistance. Officers responded and explained to the group that while they had a right to express their opinion, they could do so only in a public right of way. The officers pointed out exactly where KKCR/Princeville's property ends and where the right of way begins.

Following the explanation, the group complied and moved over to the right of way.

Shortly afterward, Mawae returned to the entrance of KKCR/Princeville. Police repeatedly told Mawae that he had to leave or he would be arrested. Mawae refused and was arrested for trespassing and resisting arrest.

Mawae was then taken to police cellblock and booked.
